Want to join family or extend your stay in the UK? Applying for settlement or citizenship?

Then you can take a LanguageCert SELT for Life in the UK exam to prove your Speaking & Listening skills in English. The level required depends on your exact visa type.

Which exam do I need to take?

Each visa application has a specific English language requirement set by the UK Home Office. Below you can find which LanguageCert SELT exam corresponds to the visa type you are applying for.

Application type	Minimum CEFR level required	Skills required	LanguageCert SELT exam
Further Leave to Remain: Family life as a partner of a settled person (Spouse/Partner) Family life as a parent (Parent of a dependent)	A1	Speaking & Listening	LanguageCert International ESOL SELT A1 (Speaking & Listening)
Further Leave to Remain (visa extension): Family life as a partner of a settled person (Spouse/Partner) Family life as a parent (Parent of a dependent) An A2 English language SELT is required for family route Leave to Remain applications after 2.5 years in the UK.	A2	Speaking & Listening	LanguageCert International ESOL SELT A2 (Speaking & Listening)
Indefinite Leave to Remain — ILR (Settlement/Permanent Residency) British Citizenship (Naturalisation)	B1	Speaking & Listening	LanguageCert International ESOL SELT B1 (Speaking & Listening)

* This list is accurate as of the last update by LanguageCert. However, the information is subject to change, so you should also check the UK government guidance on English language tests for UK visas for latest information. Please note that UK visa applicants are responsible for ensuring that they take the correct exam.

Useful tip!

The above are the minimum Speaking & Listening levels required for each visa type. If you achieve a higher-level Speaking & Listening exam than the minimum requirement, your result will then meet UKVI standards.
